

Journey to tech De-Coding the Myth

- Leah Eramo

When I was 5...

I wanted to be The Pope

Later I found my calling in IT...

A woman with long brown hair is screaming with her mouth wide open. She is wearing a yellow ribbed sweater. Her hands are clutching her hair, pulling it back from her face. The background is a plain, light grey.

After years of stressful IT jobs... my passion didn't dwindle....

In January 2016 I joined the REA Group family...

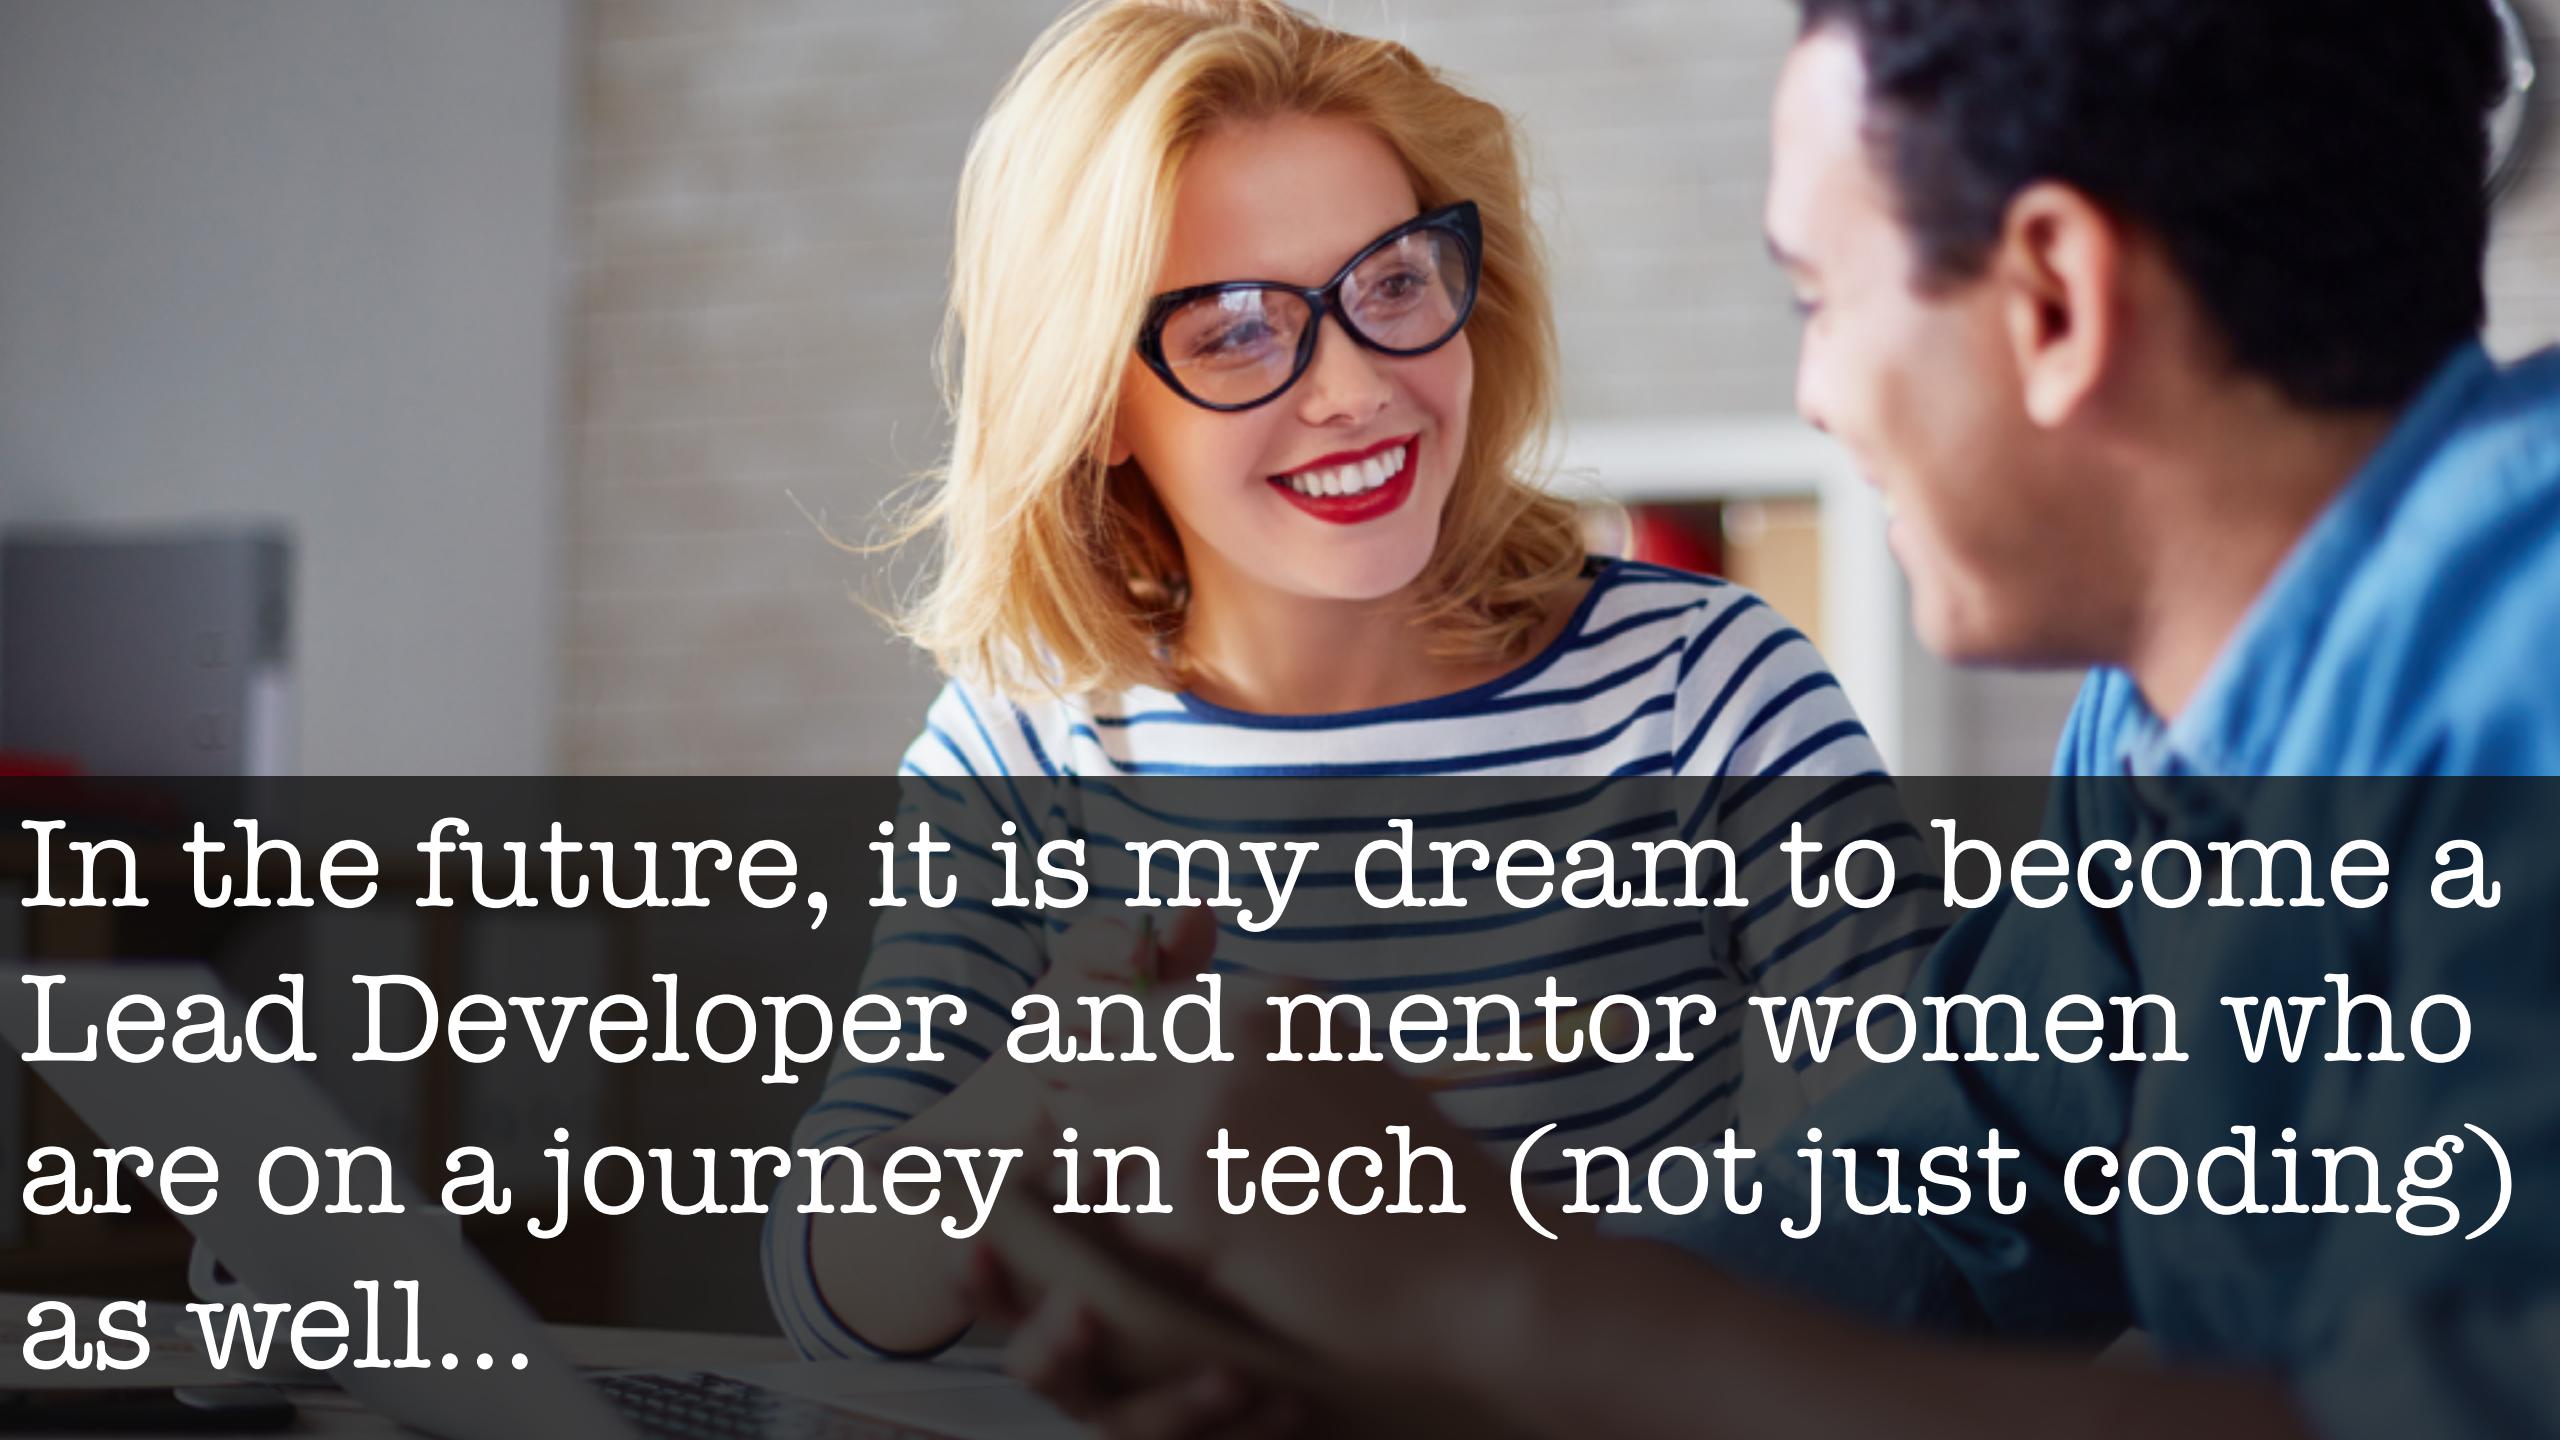

All the support for women in tech at REA made me realise I had a passion for development...

In April 2016 I attended Rails
Girls...

After years of stressful IT jobs... my
passion didn't dwindle....

A woman with blonde hair and glasses is smiling while working on a laptop. A man is visible next to her, also working on a laptop. They appear to be in an office or study environment.

In the future, it is my dream to become a Lead Developer and mentor women who are on a journey in tech (not just coding) as well...

I have come a long way
on my journey in tech...
but I still have a long way to go...

Twitter:

@leahpleurodon

@girlapalooza_au

GitHub:

@leahpleurodon

Instagram:

@girlapalooza_au

Email:

leah.eramo@rea-group.com

LinkedIn:

Leah Eramo